

Hosting Upgrade Appeal

Dear Visitor. The Tap has become increasingly busy over the last few weeks with many more visitors and sign ups. It's currently creaking and slowing. We need a hosting account upgrade to help cope with the increased activity and keep this free blog online. In this age of great change The Tap is a valuable independent resource where we can come together and share information the controlling parasites would rather we didn't have. It would be sad to lose it but it costs to keep it going and free to use. If any of you can help donate even a small amount towards the hosting upgrade that would be a big help. Your small donation makes a huge difference. Thank you in advance. Click here to donate

CELIA FARBER

The comments in response to my story yesterday about the time they tried to kill Lewis, my cat, in CT, are simply astounding.

I read each story today and many times tears came into my eyes.

Still the "like" button is disabled, but in any case, it's too paltry.

"Like."

I need many more words to choose between, to describe my responses to your comments, now and always; An embarrassment of riches.

It will take some time before I can respond as each story deserves.

Did you all catch this, in comments section, from Shona?

0.10 Managing Public Information and Access

The purpose of depopulation and why it must be done should be articulated transparently and judiciously to the public and to owners of animals that will be destroyed. Doing so will help to engender public support for a difficult decision and is an important aspect of right procedure. The successful communication of the reasons for killing animals in large num-

Killing of animals by personnel involved in depopulation can substantially impact psychological well-being.³² Appropriate oversight of the psychological well-being of these individuals is paramount to mitigate guilt, distress, sadness, fatigue, alienation, anxiety, and behaviors that lack consideration of others or may lead to harming themselves, animals, or other people. People may have individual differences in how they psychologically react to the job of killing animals.³³ It is difficult to care about animals when they have to be killed. This is called the caring-killing paradox.³⁴

The... "caring-killing paradox."

It's dizzying how these people come up with ever expanding nomenclature to make themselves sound refined, as they slaughter.

"Paradox," has never been put to harder work as a word, surely.

Depopulation methods produce unconsciousness through four basic mechanisms: 1) physical disruption of brain activity (eg, blunt cranial trauma, CB, gunshot), 2) hypoxia (eg, controlled low atmospheric pressure for poultry, N₂, Ar, exsanguination), direct depression of neurons necessary for life function (eg, CO₂), or 4) epileptiform brain activity (eg, electric stunning). Because loss of consciousness resulting from these mechanisms can occur at different rates, the suitability of a particular agent method will depend on the species and whether animal experiences pain or distress before loss of consciousness.

Distress during depopulation may be created by Depopulation is a joint responsibility, and thus the emergency response to destroy large groups of animals is not solely the domain of veterinarians or veterinary agencies. Rather, it is a shared responsibility that may involve government agencies, communities, businesses, professions, and individuals. Benefits and burdens of decisions related to emergency response involving depopulation should be distributed equitably among members of society impacted by the crisis, and it is important to have a fair process and transparency in decision-making between all the relevant parties. Consideration of the human element of emergency management and depopulation of animals should be a significant concern if not paramount to any procedure carried out to respond to a

0.8 Animal Behavioral Considerations

One of the major aspects of these Guidelines is to minimize animal distress, including negative affective or experientially based states such as fear, aversion, anxiety, and apprehension, during the depopulation process once a decision has been made to depopulate. They are also meant to anticipate human welfare and safety concerns regarding the repeated termination of animals' lives on a large scale and likely with a great degree of urgency. Veterinarians and other employees conducting depopulation should familiarize themselves with pre-depopulation protocols and be attentive to species and individual variability to mitigate distress in both food animals and human handlers. The method for inducing unconsciousness and the handling and restraint methods associated with it must be evaluated as an entire system.³¹ Physical methods require more handling and restraint of individual animals, compared with CAS, but they induce instantaneous unconsciousness. "MASONIC FEINT" —NEW TERMINOLOGY

Agent Roger W. left a comment, picking up on the "anti-semitism" part of my story.

I leave it here, and will write more on the subject in a future post.

"Masonic feint," as a new term, coined by Roger, will help us a lot in the coming era.

It's not enough to say: "There's no left and right..."

Rather, both are deployed from each end toward the middle, for the un-seen dance Agent Roger has now named the Masonic feint.

We may even be able to get some of our friends back, in 2025.

agent Roger W. The Weekly Rebuke 8h

Antisemitism is a poison. It's ivermectin for the mind, and it's pushed on people using similar tactics.

In Spain you will find fanatics of the left and fanatics of the right who are genuinely antisemitic. Not the same as people who are rhetorically antisemitic. In either case, there are few people like that, all of them characteristically politicized, strongly so.

But it's no exaggeration to say that 95% of Spaniards refuse politics. Which is one of the reasons why we are defenseless against propaganda and the impish decrees of the EU tyrants.

Since Oct. 7th, things have changed a bit. The left is returning to their proto-Marxist anti-semitic pose. It's all a masonic feint, let's not forget that. The leftist politician today cannot hide his hand in his jacket because he does not wear jackets anymore. Otherwise, it's the same as always. Why change what is known to work?

The right is 99% generally ultra-super-duper pro-Netanyahu, which is a form of antisemitism in itself, that many Jews are too guilty of. Anything that Netanyahu does is antisemitic in the long run, and any supporter of Netanyahu will be attacked as antisemitic in the future. The right wingers in Spain are deeply stupid and have no perception of time or depth in politics. They are always the plaything of the left. That explains why corruption is rampant and unopposed. There is no counterweight anywhere.

But just like ivermectin causes the symptoms it is supposed to cure, which also happens with many other drugs (antidepressants cause depression, chemotherapy causes cancer, NSAIDs cause inflammation) it turns out that antisemitism is like a drug for social and political symptoms that exactly causes the same symptoms it is supposed to resolve. No thinking person is antisemitic. And the problem is that all the traumatized people of today prefer to not think. This is part of the damage done by the covidian cult, which is a pride-based religion, the pride that all vets and all MDs show to people.
